History of the Class of 1931

IN 1928, having successfully overcome the arduous labors of the eighth grade, our class hopefully and greenfully entered Petoskey High School. Our first two years, which were, as most Freshman and Sophomore years are, rather uneventful, were never the less skillfully piloted by Richard Porter as Freshman president and Jean Webb as Sophomore.

With the dawning of our Junior year, we found ourselves plunged into the divers duties and activities associated with our new importance. Wesley Wells was chosen to guide us through this momentous year. The class play, "The Ghost Breaker," our first attempt at dramatics, was successfully produced. The annual Hop took place at Juilleret's, near Charlevoix, where the guests danced to the rhythmic music of Charles Fisher's Globe Trotters. Our final year found us under the capable leadership of Merton Carter. This last year we gave "The Queen's Husband" as the annual play.

The members of our class have distinguished themselves in all phases of student activity. The Student Council has had active boosters in Doris Brown and Merton Carter. In scholarship, the grades received by our valedictorian, Gordon Hendricks, and our salutatorian, Esther Chichester, are among the highest ever accorded by this school. In forensics Jean Webb, Floyd French, and Bernard Lyons took active part. Our outstanding athletes were Louis Hankey, Jonas Neihardt, Joseph Soblesky, Wesley Wells, and the Porter brothers. In music, too, the class has excelled. Neal Maston took fourth place in xylophone at the National Music contest in 1931. Esther Chichester played among the first violinists in the State High School Orchestra at Ann Arbor, 1929 and 1930.

Looking back over our four years, we believe we can truthfully say that we have completed our high school course successfully.

National Honor Society--1931

PETOSEGA Chapter of the National Honor Society was as active as usual this year. The senior members include: Doris Brown, president; Esther Chichester, secretary; Margaret Christopher, Gordon Hendricks, Jean Webb, and Ruth Misener, elected their junior year; Ruth Atkin, Joyce Crothers, Eleanor Frederickson, Floyd French, and Jane Saunders, elected in March of this year. The junior members are Thomas Fochtman, Louise Hinkley, Earl Lawrence, and Doris Reber, who were elected in May.

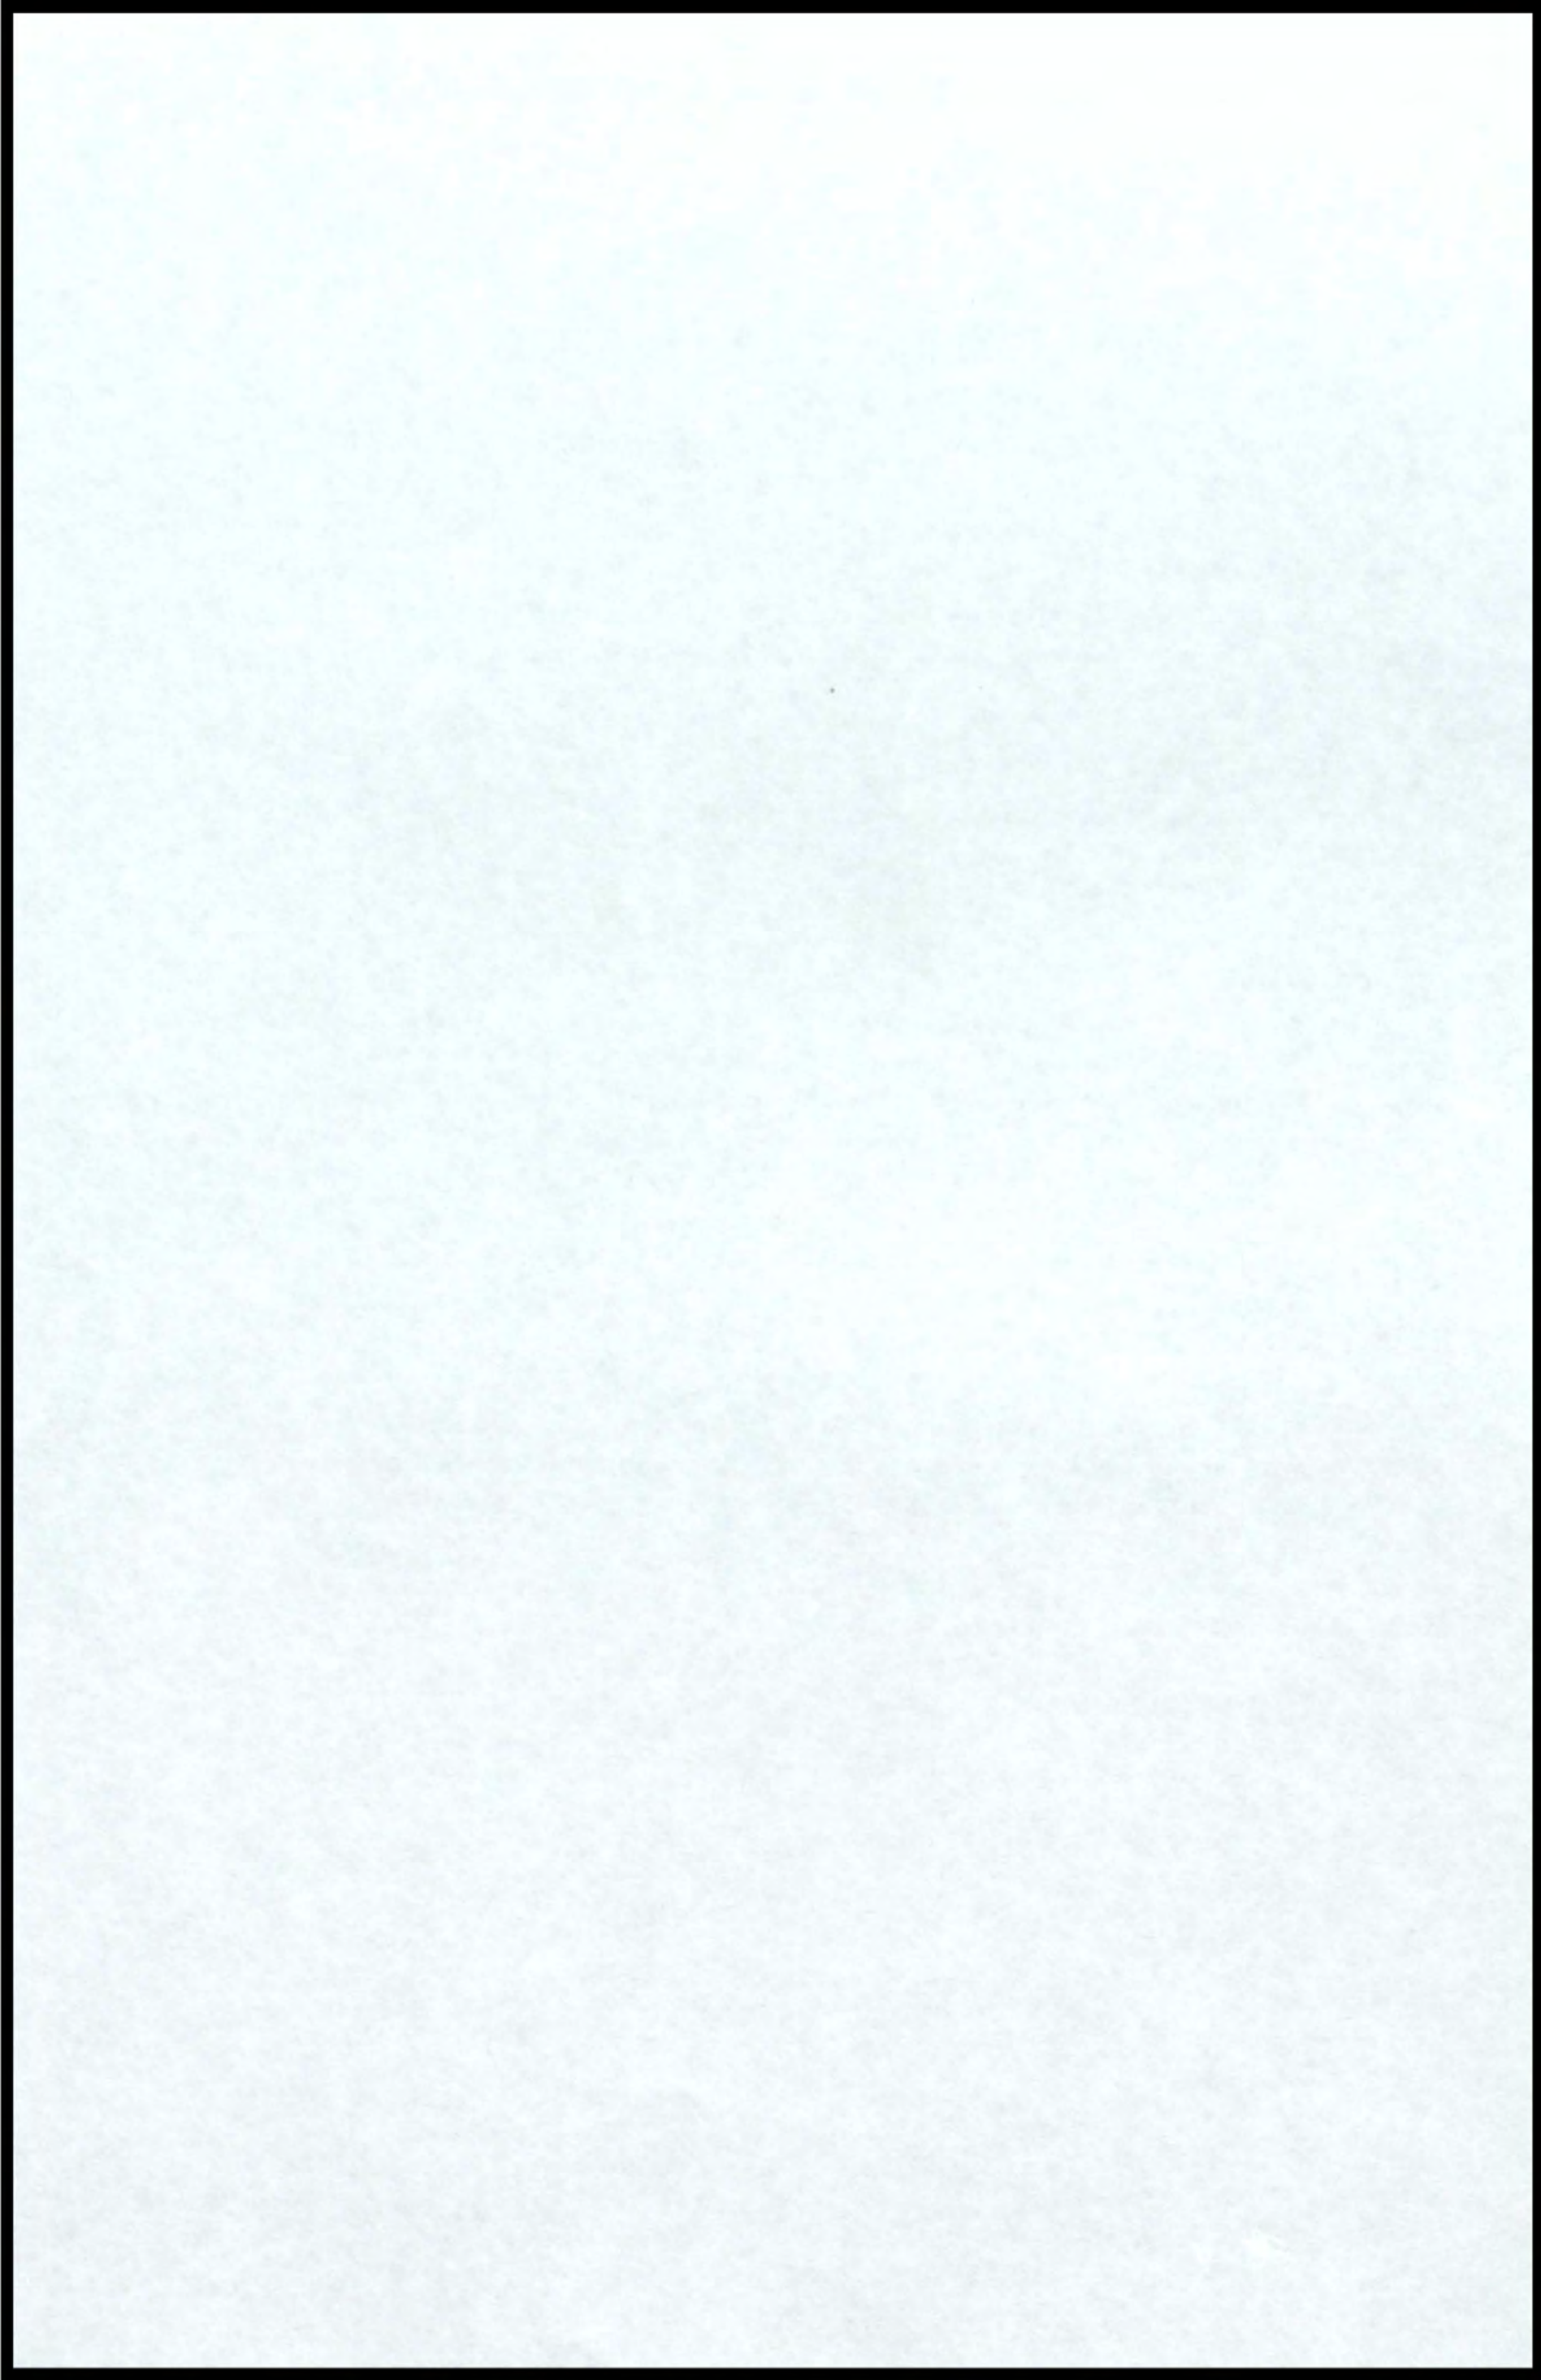

To be eligible for this society, one must be in the upper twenty-five per cent of his class in scholarship, and must also excel in leadership, character, and service. Five per cent of the class is chosen in the junior year and ten per cent the senior year.

The Honor Society has had four meetings aside from the banquet. The first, which was held October 23, 1930, was for the purpose of electing officers. This meeting was unique because of the closeness of the elections, one of which had to be decided by flipping a coin. At this meeting Doris Brown was elected president and Esther Chichester secretary. The next meeting was held March 25, 1931, to elect the new senior members whose names are mentioned above. A third meeting, April 13, was to acquaint the new members with the standards and ideals of the society and to make ready for the initiation ceremony which took place April 13, on the stage before a general assembly of the school. The usual initiation program of the society was given, and the initiates received their pins from Mr. Jacobs.

The annual banquet was held May 21 at the Perry Hotel and was quite a formal affair. Mrs. Leon Chichester sang a solo as the first number on the program, accompanied by Thurlow Stone. After a fine dinner Miss Beebe introduced the main speaker, Mr. W. G. McCune, who spoke on "True Education." Then the four junior members were duly initiated, after which Mr. Jacobs presented the pins. Miss Beebe ended the program with a short talk.

This was the final function of the Honor Society for the year 1930-31, and was a good ending for a good year.

The Seniors in Athletics

THE Monogram Club was organized at Petoskey High School in 1919. All men who have earned a letter in any of the various athletic activities of the high school are eligible for membership in this club. A very successful banquet which is enjoyed by the club at the closing of the football and basketball season is given by the business men of Petoskey, and this helps to increase the interest in the high school athletic activities.

Petoskey loses nine gridiron men this June, all of whom are Seniors except one. Charles Kleinhenz, fleet quarterback, is the only one who will be missed from the backfield in 1931. Age qualifications will make him ineligible.

Watson Louis Hankey, playing left end, was one of the outstanding pass snatchers in the North. "Lou" also will be keenly missed on the basketball court where his center jumping ability made him a valuable unit. In track Hankey specializes in the high jump and shot as well as running a mean race on the relay team.

"Little Saint" Philip Jonas Neihardt proved one exception to the rule that a good big man could not also be a good little man. Weighing 135 pounds with a rock in his hand, he proved himself to be the best end in the conference. Jonas was also high point man on the basketball team. He is finishing up his career by showing his heels to his opponents in running the low hurdles.

Joseph John Soblesky, the Northmen All-Conference tackle, goes on to bolster up some collegiate line, but the memory of "Fighting Joe" will become traditional in the "hot stone" league of the north. Next year it won't be a matter of taking Joe's place but merely a question of doing the best one can. Joe deservedly rates with Petoskey's gridiron "greats." In track Joe specialized in the shot and discus.

Willis Joseph Ecker, alderman from Clarion, who played a busy game at left guard, will be a difficult man to replace, and Elwin Russell Stockhill, the windmill terror who fanned his opposition from right to left, will be missing from his position at right guard next year. George Joseph Porter, who spent most of his time looking like Dick, will be on the absense list next fall. Petoskey lost a fast back when Stewart Wesley Wells injured his leg in the opening quarter of the Big Rapids game. Wes was a consistent point winner on the track team where he specialized in the high hurdles.

Gordon Switzer turned in a good game at tackle. Gordon Eugene Hendricks played forward on the basketball team and also took high scholastic honors in the class of 1931 by being chosen Valedictorian. Richard "Dick" Porter, who is now spending most of his time looking like George, captained the basketball squad until mid-year in fine style. Paul F. Hufford was outstanding in the mile on the track team last year. He also won the cross-country last fall, together with Floyd William Scott, Howard Elmer Elkins, and Claude Elmer Notestine. Paul was ineligible on the track team this year on account of the nine semester ruling.

Other non-senior members of the Monogram Club are: Ralph L. Coveyou, Frank S. Dombroski, Sam Gemmill, Burton Hooker, Louis A. Kleinhenz, William H. Parks, Kenneth O. Truman, Graham Douglas Wells, Edward J. Wodek, Clarence J. White, Orville Knox Johnson, Donald Webert, and Henry G. Harmon.

6. The structure of $A_n$

The first part of the proof is to show that  $A_n$  is a simple group for  $n \geq 5$ . We will use the fact that  $A_n$  is a normal subgroup of  $S_n$  and that  $S_n/A_n \cong C_2$ . We will also use the fact that  $A_n$  is a simple group for  $n \geq 5$ .

Senior Honors for 1931

GORDON HENDRICKS
VALEDICTORIAN

ESTHER CHICHESTER
SALUTATORIAN

THE highest honors available in High School were conferred this year on Gordon Hendricks and Esther Chichester, as Valedictorian and Salutatorian.

Both have been active members of the class of '31, which is exceedingly proud of them.

Gordon led his class with an average of 97.483 and Esther was close behind with an average of 97.448. Both were elected to the National Honor Society in their junior year.

Gordon was elected secretary-treasurer of his class in his junior year and to the Student Council in his sophomore year. He has also had a place on the basketball squad for the last two years. He has been an active member of the Hi-Y, Athletic Club, Glee Club, and Band.

Much of Esther's time has been occupied with outside activities. She has played in the Orchestra and Band, been a member of the Student Council, played basketball and is a tennis enthusiast.

These two honor students plan to continue their education in college next year, and in the future will surely bring honors to themselves and Petoskey High School.

The Queen's Husband

ON May 14 and 15 the class of '31 presented "The Queen's Husband," a three-act comedy written by Robert Emmet Sherwood under the inspiration of the visit to America by Queen Marie of Roumania. The play was splendidly directed by Mrs. Stech with an all-star cast. A specially appropriate and striking stage setting was designed by Mr. Rogers.

"The Queen's Husband" is about a mythical kingdom. The story is based on two main conflicts, one between the Prime Minister and the opposition party composed of liberals and near-anarchists; the other between the Foreign Minister and the King on the subject of the marriage of the Princess. The Queen is in sympathy with the royalist party headed by the Premier, while the King favors the radical element. Eventually the King, who at first seemed completely under the dominance of the Premier and the Queen, asserts his authority and by a "coup d'etat" puts the Minister in his place. By a more subtle strategy, he circumvents the Queen and assures his daughter's happiness with the man she loves.

Jane Saunders, as the Princess Anne, played admirably a difficult emotional part, and Rosalie Stech (Queen Martha) acted her part in true queenly style. Merton Carter took the part of the King, whose wit, amusing ways and clever moves delighted the audience. Watson Snyder as General Northrup showed the force and energy of the overbearing Premier, and Wesley Wells portrayed a charming personality in the role of Granton, the King's secretary. Every member of the supporting cast was important to the success of the play.

The Queen's Speech

On 22 May 1952, the Queen's Speech was read in the House of Commons. The Queen's Speech is a statement of the Government's policy for the year ahead. It is read by the Queen in the presence of the House of Commons and the House of Lords. The speech is usually read in the House of Commons.

Senior Class Memorial

WE, the Seniors, have bequeathed something "just a bit different" than most classes. Others have given statues, pictures, and stage equipment, but never before has any class presented a work of an old master reproduced in color. Other classes have decorated the halls and auditorium, but no one of them has ever before endeavored to relieve the monotony of that fateful shrine of judgment—the principal's private office, where sooner or later all those who sin must come to pay the "extreme penalty" for their wrongdoing. Suspense is an awful phenomenon at any time, but when one has a guilty conscience it becomes doubly unbearable. Thus the kind and thoughtful class of '31 has endeavored to alleviate the torture of the undergrads who must enter those fateful portals by placing there one of the greatest paintings of the old masters, Turner's "Grand Canal, Venice." It is an excellent copy with all the color, all the splendor of the original which is considered by the best critics to be one of the most characteristic of Turner's paintings.

WES WELLS

GERTRUDE RIGG

Who's Who of 1931

"You need not go wandering, far or near,
The better guy (or girl) you want is here!"

Yes, and the best looking, too! Gertrude's fair hair and skin, combined with her unusual charm, have won her the double honor of being the best looking and most popular girl of the class of '31. We're all proud of her. Wesley Wells of the wavy black hair carried off the honor of being the best looking Senior boy.

Friendliness and an unselfish and ambitious nature brought Merton Carter the vote of the most popular boy as well as the name of class booster. He has done much for his class, and his willingness to help with anything won him the class booster honor. Class booster title for the girls was won by Doris Brown. She, too, has devoted much time to her class and has been willing to help in any way she could.

All of these Seniors have been popular through their four years of high school, and they have been good scholars, too. And we wish them continued success.

The complete election follows:

	Girl	Boy
Most popular .....	Gertrude Rigg	Merton Carter
Best looking .....	Gertrude Rigg	Wesley Wells
Class booster .....	Doris Brown	Merton Carter
Optimist .....	Elma Conklin	Don Bachelor

JOKES

Ruth Atkins (radio fan, disturbed at her prayers by scratching on the screen door): "Please stand by God, while I let the cat out."

Miss Furman: "Leotta, when did the English burn Washington?"

Leotta Nelson: "But Miss Furman, Washington wasn't burned, he died of pneumonia."

Pat Sullivan: "Don't you see that sign 'Fine for Parking'?"

Gordon Williams: "Yes, officer, I see it and heartily agree with it."

Elwin Stockhill: "Where'd you get that smudge on your face?"

Don Bachelor: "Well, the car broke down and I had to fix it."

Stockhill: "Since when do you grease your car with red grease?"

Fred Lovelace: "Did you hear about Berrian, the undertaker, getting killed by an auto?"

Lloyd Miller: "Yes, I don't think he will make much on that funeral."

Fred Lovelace: "No; in fact, I think he will go in the hole."

Lucille Hinds: "Do you like to dance?"

Joseph Schurtz: "Yes, but not on my week-ends."

Lucille Hinds: "Why don't you try ankle supporters?"

Mrs. Stech: "Give me the principal parts of cry."

Violet Ward: "Cry, cried, bawled, bellered."

Doris Brown: "How many subjects do you carry?"

Howard Elkins: "I carry one and drag the other three."

Wes Wells: "I'm trying to get ahead."

Ward Schantz: "You need one."

Mrs. Stech: "Identify Bacon."

Alexander Doherty: "Southern dish. Very good when served with eggs."

Scott: "Who wrote the greatest war song?"

Soblesky: "Mendelssohn."

Scott: "What was it?"

Soblesky: "Here comes the bride."

Mert. Carter: "My kingdom for a horse!"

Voice from the gallery: "Will a jackass do?"

Mert: "Sure, come right down."

Willis Ecker: "I've asked for money, begged for money, and cried for money."

John Friend: "Why don't you try working for money?"

Willis: "I'm going through the alphabet, and I haven't reached the W's yet."

Beggars should never be choosers—though the beggar often chews what he begs.

Burgess: "I'm going to buy myself a harem."

Lyons: "What do you mean? You can't buy a harem, can you?"

Burgess: "Sure, I saw a sign that said, 'Six gals. for a dollar!'"

Miss Furman: "Have you read 'Freckles'?"

Adelle Fochtman: "No, just the plain old brown ones."

 President.

Mrs. Stech: "Can you tell me what a hypocrite is?"

Floyd French: "It's a boy that comes to school in the spring with a smile on his face."

Watson Snyder: "Your suit looks rusty."

Aram Guleserian: "Well, the tailor said it would wear like iron."

Richard Porter: "Have you heard about the meanest man in the world?"

Gertrude Rigg: "Yes, he throws chewing gum in the street for Austins to get stuck on."

"Pray let me kiss your hand," said he,

With looks of burning love.

"I can remove my veil much easier," said Jennie Kent,

"Than I can my glove."

Elma Conklin: "Is there any instrument for measuring density?"

Esther Chichester: "Yes, the report card."

Winona Chase: "You do think you're beautiful—don't you?"

Leone Chapman: "No, but what's my opinion compared to those of a hundred boys."

Dorothy Irvine: "Why do they call these things dressing gowns?"

Elsie Lake: "Well, you don't take a bath in a bath robe, do you?"

Gordon Switzer: "This vanishing cream you lent me is a fake."

Mabel Bishop: "Why?"

Gordon: "I've been using it on my feet every night for two weeks and they're still as large as ever."

Golfer: "Terrible links, caddy, terrible!"

P. Hufford: "Sorry, sir; these ain't links—you got off them an hour ago."

Eleanore Frederickson: "What is an example of period furniture?"

Milton Cory: "Well, I should say an electric chair, because it ends a sentence."

Mac (in gym class): "Deep breathing destroys microbes."

Homer Matteson: "But how can you force them to breathe deeply?"

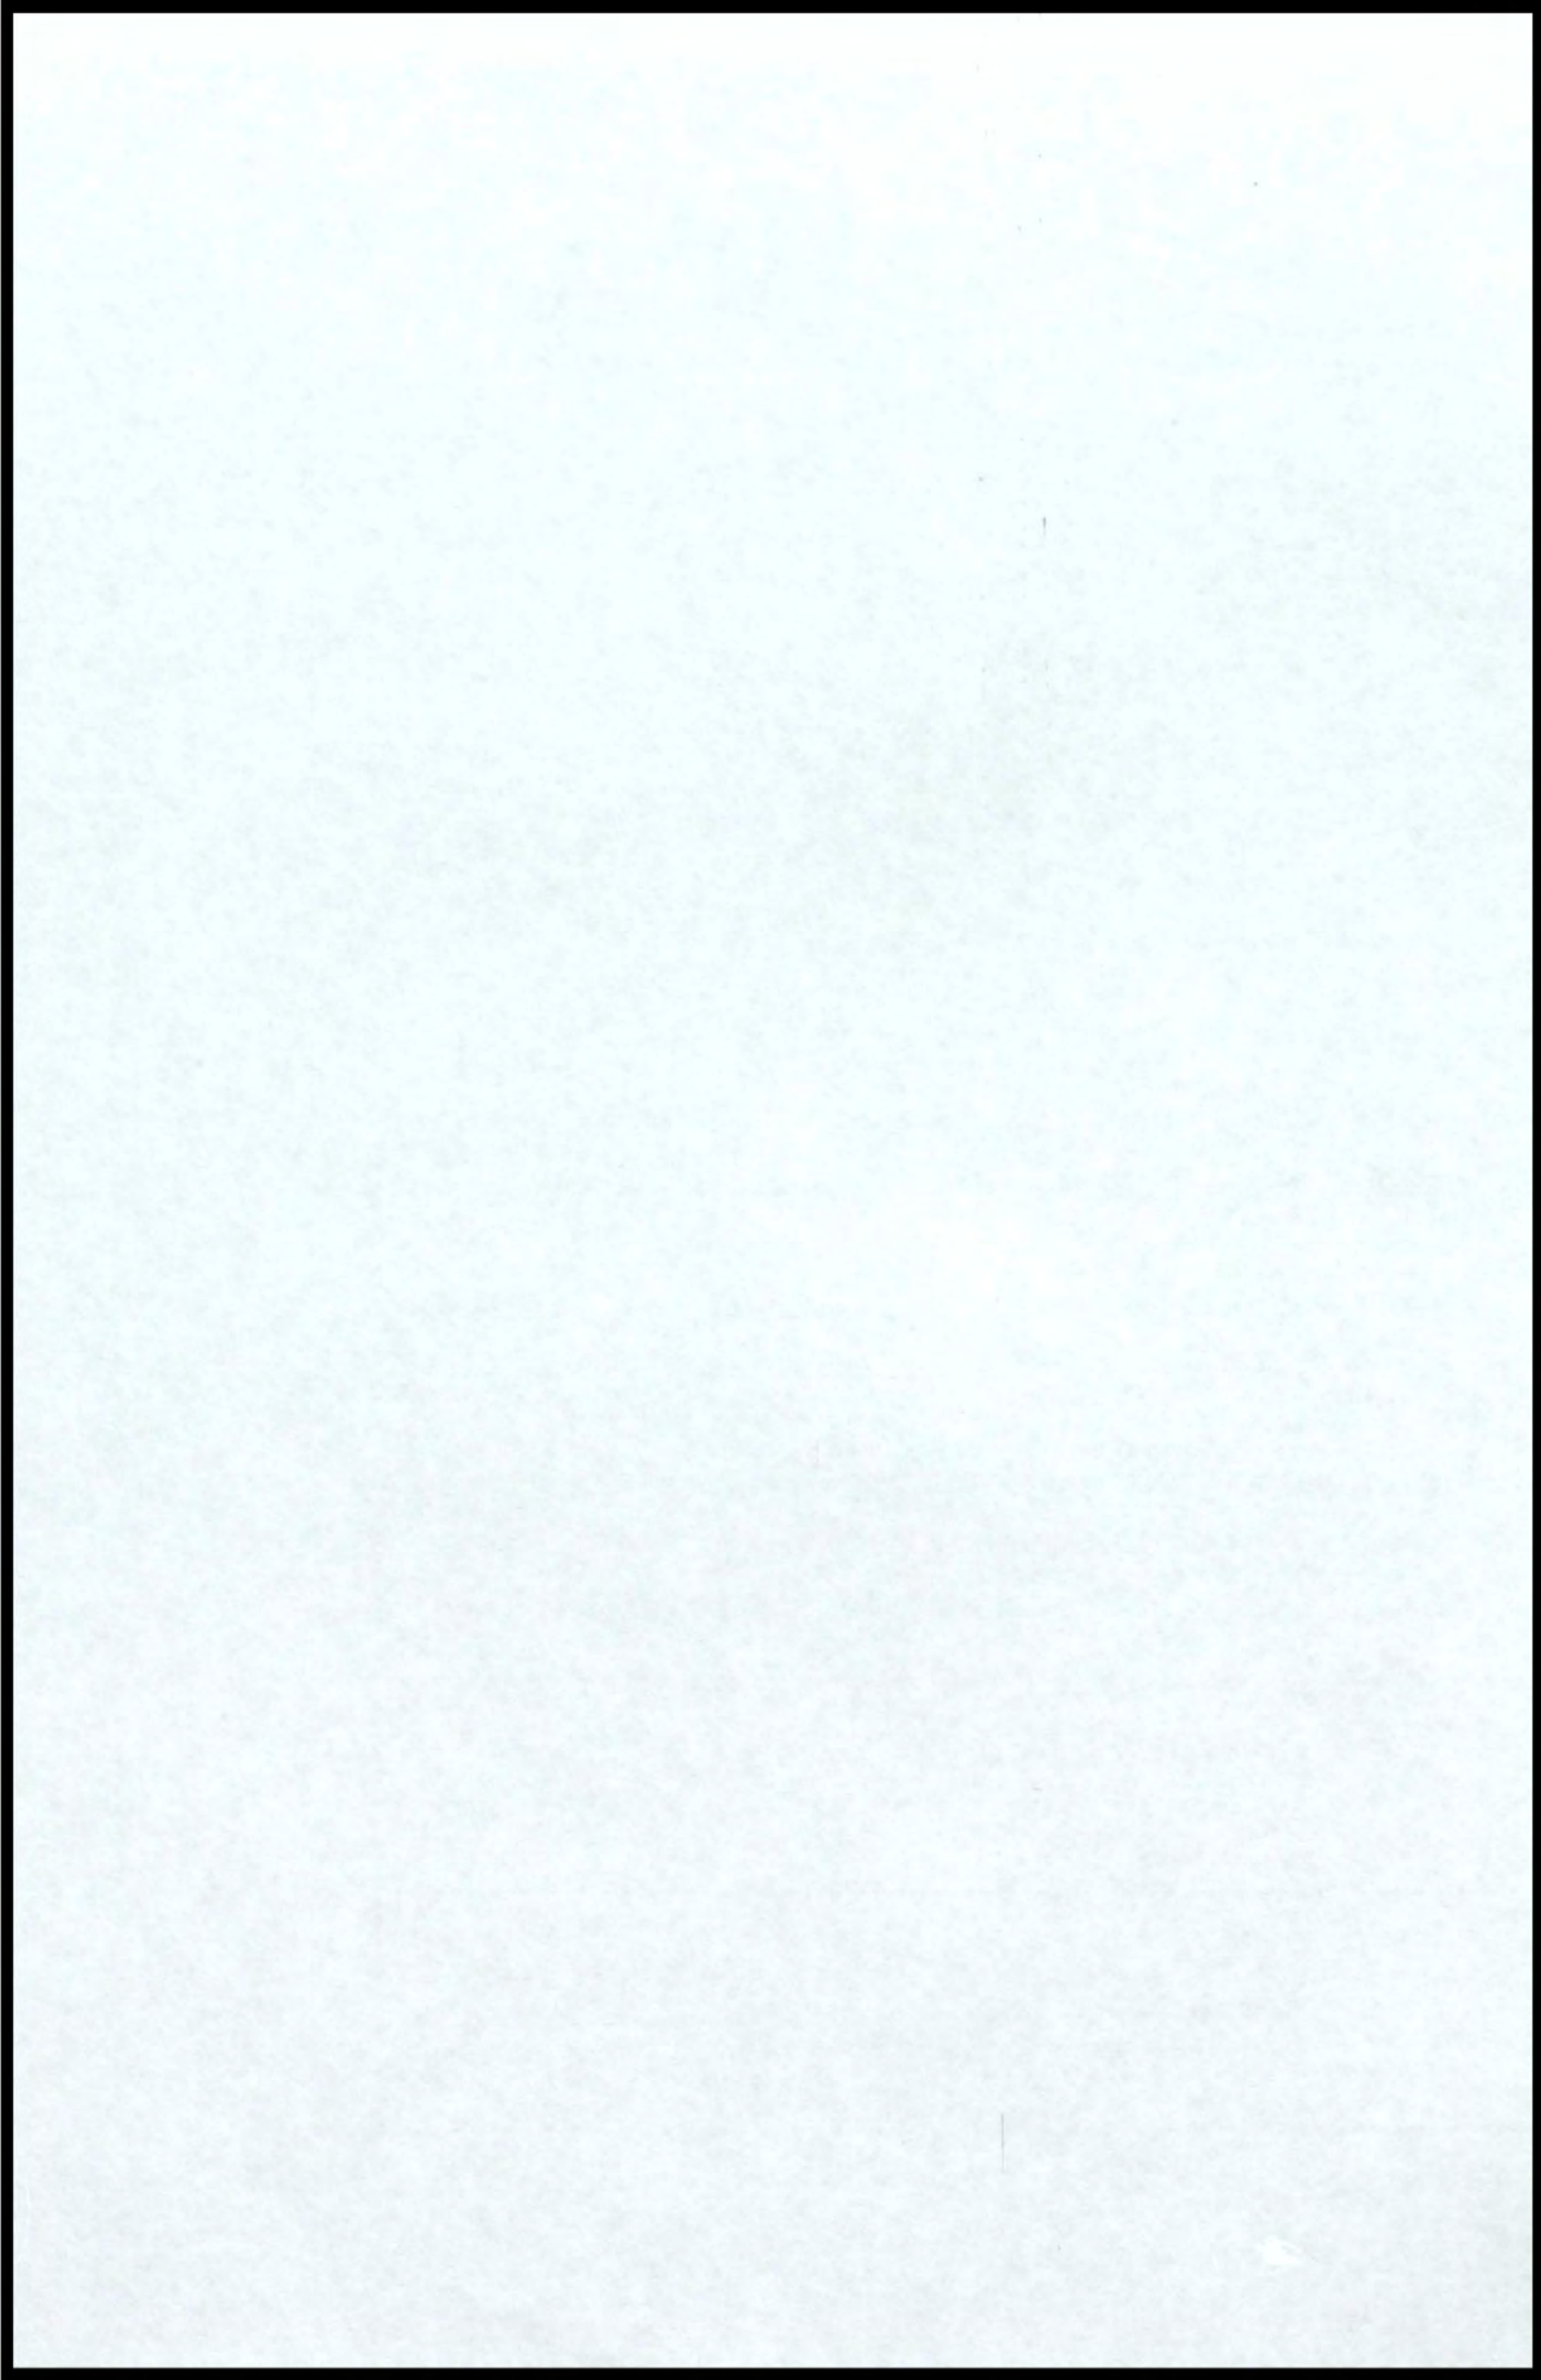

Josephine Burek (back in those schoolgirl days): "I wouldn't stick up for you if you were the last woman on earth."

Grace Barnes: "If I were the last woman on earth you wouldn't be here."
